

CCG Accountable Officer Statement: Counter Fraud and Bribery

Fraud and bribery in the NHS costs the taxpayer millions of pounds every year. We are accountable to the public for the provision of services in an open and honest manner and any failure to do so brings the service into disrepute and threatens the respect afforded to the whole organisation.

The CCG is committed to applying the highest standards of ethical conduct and integrity and every employee and individual acting on the CCG's behalf is responsible for maintaining the organisation's reputation and for conducting CCG business honestly and professionally.

Fraud

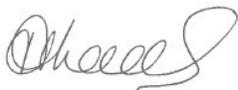

The CCG will take all necessary steps to counter fraud, through compliance with the NHS Counter Fraud Authority Standards for Commissioners: Fraud, Bribery and Corruption. A zero-tolerance approach is taken to fraud and all allegations will be thoroughly investigated by the CCG's Local Counter Fraud Specialist (LCFS). The CCG will ensure appropriate action is taken against wrong-doers, as well as undertaking steps to recover any assets lost, as a result of fraud.

Bribery

Transparent, fair conduct helps to foster deeper relationships of trust between the CCG and our partners. The CCG does not tolerate any form of bribery, whether direct or indirect, by, or of, its staff, agents or consultants, or any persons or entities acting for it or on its behalf. The board and senior management are committed to implementing and enforcing effective systems throughout the CCG to prevent, monitor and eliminate bribery, in accordance with the Bribery Act 2010.

A bribe is a financial advantage or other reward that is offered to, given to, or received by an individual or company (whether directly or indirectly) to induce or influence that individual or company to perform public or corporate functions or duties improperly. Employees and others acting for or on behalf of the CCG are strictly prohibited from making, soliciting or receiving any bribes or unauthorised payments.

The success of the CCG's anti-fraud and bribery measures depends on all employees, those acting for the organisation, and our patients, playing their part in helping to detect and eradicate these offences. Therefore, the CCG encourages anyone who suspects a fraud or bribery offence to report their concerns as soon as possible via the contacts detailed below. No individual will suffer any detrimental treatment when reporting reasonably held suspicions.
