Are you passionate about improving the quality of care, service transformation and innovation across the wider system? Are you already working and leading collaboratively across professions, organisations or sectors to ensure better outcomes for patients?

for health and healthcare

Section 1: Introduction

Great health care needs great leaders and leadership from across the system. The NHS Five Year Forward View \(2014\) sets out this vision of breaking down organisational and professional barriers to ensure people receive seamless care. In aspiration and in design, the Primary Care Leadership Collaboratives (PCLC) reflects and capitalises on the opportunities presented to the system by the vision articulated in the NHS Five Year Forward View, in particular around integrated care and other new models of service delivery.

Applicants for the PCLC will already have some leadership experience commensurate with their role. By leadership we don't necessarily mean formal team leadership, rather leading in the context of the shared initiative.

What are Primary Care Leadership Collaboratives?

The Primary Care Leadership Collaboratives are designed to support local teams in developing leadership capabilities in each of the Sustainability and Transformation Partnership \(STP\) footprints.

We are seeking eighteen collaboratives in total, likely to be a practice manager, practice nurse and GP/GDP but potentially including other senior colleagues in practices and other local organisations, ideally three from each of the six STPs footprints.

We anticipate each collaborative will already be working together to improve health and health outcomes for communities, perhaps through the delivery of new models of integrated care.

Our goal is to enable improvement and innovation across STPs through each collaborative, sharing a common purpose and vision of primary care and future outcomes for communities.

Please be aware that while there is no programme cost for you to attend this programme, each place represents an investment of £1,000.

This programme requires full attendance over a series of impact days and should be fully supported by your line manager as part of your PDP. Failure to attend all days will have an impact on both personal development and programme delivery and may impact on the individual's opportunity to access any future development offers.

Application Form

Only one application form is necessary per collaborative so in the first instance the collaborative should nominate a lead representative for administrative purposes.

Each collaborative will have 3 members.

The lead representative has the responsibility to ensure the application form is filled out on behalf of others in the collaborative.

It is also advisable that you contact your Primary Care Team representative to discuss suitability of your collaborative and its shared initiative.

Please submit the completed application form on behalf of you and the collaborative electronically by 10.00am on 18 December 2017 to:
leadership.eoe@hee.nhs.uk

If you need any specific support in completing the application form by the deadline please let us know by contacting us at:
leadership.eoe@hee.nhs.uk

N.B. Before completing the application please check that you and the collaborative can be available for the dates in Section 3.

It may also include self-directed learning, for example accessing online materials or attending other local master classes and events. You will also be applying the learning from the PCLC by testing out improvement tools and techniques in the workplace and bringing your experiences and reflections back to share with fellow participants.
